New York, April 13.-Throughout the Sountry all baseball organizations playing under the national agreement set aside the proceeds of today's games as a contribution to the fund with which it is intended to crect a monument to the memory of the late Harry Wright. According to reports received tonight a handsome sum has been realized. New York's contribution, however was a disappointment, as only 250 people attended the game between the Stants and a local team known as the Metropolitans.

According to reports the Philadelphians were the star contributors. Three people turned one to see a game between the Phillies and a local team. The net receipts were $1,200.

Consequently the A. P. A. Will Fight Him to a Finish Because They Believe He is Against Them-If They Cannot Prevent Him From Getting the Nomination They Will Join Their Forces and Try to is Very Interesting to the Man Who Thinks That the A. P. A. Can Do It.

Cincinnati, O., April 13.-Judge J. H. passed through Cincinnati tonight on his way to Boston. Regarding the fight of the A. P. A., against McKinley Judge Stevens said: "I noticed in the Cincinnati papers this morning what purported to be an interview with promit nent members of the association, which ger has been in more campaigns than Judge Stevens said: "I noticed in the in general, is correct, yet it is erroneous in some particulars.

"It is true the A. P. A. will not give to McKinley its support, either for the nomination or the election. His rec-ord is such that no A. P. A., member thought it in 1889, when Grant had a who is true to his principles and who has not been weaned away from the association by promises of an office can support. Mr. McKinley has never recognized this organization,

Judge Stevens then enumerates vari-cus grievances against McKinley, and among them the neglect of McKinley managers to grant an A. P. A. committee an audience in Washington on the 27th to 30th of last March, and the fact that McKinley himself left unanswered elegrams sent by the committee to him. Judge Stevens then sald:

He says the committee was not un friendly to McKinley when it met. this respect the committee differed from President Traynor, editor of the Detroit American. On the other hand McKinley rivals granted the committee an audience on the first offer, whereas McKinley and his managers refused requests for an audience, though the oprtunity was given for two ive weeks by the committee in Washing ton and New York. This meeting in New York was after a special committee had been sent in vain to interview McKinley in Ohlo.

Judge Stevens says Hon, W. A. Linon is the A. P. A. candidate. In con-lusion he said: "You may say for us clusion he said: that we are against McKinley to the We shall support only a positive self-asserted man who is no straddler on any issue, and is a man of more than one idea. We thought the same thing in 1888 with Sherman. We were sure that Sherman would win, and we counted our delegates as more than enought to nominate. And we ought to have won. We had the delegates, but have won. We had the delegates, but by bad political management we lost them. I have gone over the figures with General Grosvenor and others, and I confess that I do not see how he is to be nominated on the first ballet I think it will be on the second or third ballot, more likely the third than either the first or second. I agree with our McKinley leaders, that the aggressive fight begun must continue, for we can't change our tactics now. But we ought not to have begun that way. I have seen too many political battles lost by aggressiveness in a campaign for the nomination. It produces bad blood, and leads to dark horses. There was no occasion for it in this campaign. market reflected a more hopeful view of the immediate outlook, although the trading was only moderate in volume The transactions were fairly well distributed, and substantial advances in prices occurred in some instances. The traders appeared to disregard a renewal of the "epcial" gold exports to Europe. The firm which has recently Grosvenor or Hahn, and has seen too made two shipments of gold on Russian account, today withdrew from the subtreasury $700,000, which will be forwarded to Germany by tomorrow's steamers. The last two previous exports by house in question have been filed by withdrawals from one of the govern-ment depository banks. The favorable influences bearing upon the market to-day included more seasonable weather, a belief that a more conservative atti-tude will be observed by the president on the Cuban resolution, and the exprotestion of an early adjournment of congress. The last theory is based up-on the probable desire of members of congress to make preparations for the national campaign. Another encouraging development was further made in the sterling exchange market, declining to $4.89%. It is believed that at the fig-ure mentioned, gold cannot be shipped on any purely exchange operation. The suspension of a formely bear house, falled to cause a ripple. Such special information as can be secured regard-ing the crop outlook at this season is favorable. In several stocks pool buy-ing served to advance prices. Dealings in the railway list were on a moderate scale, although a flurry in Reading occurred in the forenoon. London was a moderate seller of St. Paul, but all off-erings were readily absorbed, and later in the day purchases of various stocks were not sold for foreign account. Sugar led the market in point of activity and strength. The rise in this stock was attended by further advances in the price of the product. Partly on this account and pool buying, an advance of 2 per cent occurred, to 121% per cent. The preferred stock rose 1% per cent. Chicago Gas gained 1½ per cent on continued suggestions of a probable early dividend payment. Tobacco fluctuated, as usual, in an eccentric manner and left off a point lower.
